A Message From Fr. Hinterschied

It's high time for Christian fathers to walk with God and influence the world for Christ. Each father to aim to win a father, one family at a time. 93% of families will follow when the father takes an active role in his faith and walk with Christ. When fathers are not active in their faith, 60% of children stop attending Mass or leave the faith altogether even if their mother attends regularly. Yet our tendency as men to focus on our professional work and economic wellbeing, especially in the midst of a culture that manifests a contraceptive mentality and views children as obstacles to greater wealth, makes it difficult to respond with joy to even the potential vocation of fatherhood. Unfortunately today words like "burden," "accident," "intrusion," and "stressful" are commonly employed to describe a new child or parenthood in general. But what a privilege it is for a father to be a sign of God's generosity! A father is tasked, in the first place, with cultivating the spiritual wellbeing of the soul. In his Rule for monastic life St. Benedict notes, "Anyone undertaking the charge of souls must be ready to account for them ... on judgment day he will surely have to submit a reckoning to the Lord for all their souls—and indeed for his own as well." With profound openness to God's plan and by an act of love, husband and wife cooperate with God to bring new life into the world. They cherish that life and commit themselves to education and formation while entrusting their children to God's providence. A man who becomes a father is eternally blessed and entrusted with the care of a precious soul. Fatherhood is a vocation of love, one that finds in children (imperfect, as we all are) the kind of joy that abides forever.
